Arts & Culture must be accessible, attainable and submitted from all walks of life. Our ancient artist language is equally important as the introduced and more recent art. The original owners of this land, including the far recent and near recent inhabitants. We should all have a voice and see our history celebrated. It would be neglectful to forget eras of our artistic language by forging ahead with a societal pressured language of culture. Our immigrant history is an important layer of Australia as a modern country. Art and culture shown in an immersive way to a lower socio economic youth would increase a harmony of acceptance; instead of an insular and singular minded objective of culture and history.
