

National Cultural Policy of Australia

Submission for the Revive: Place for every story, a story for every place

The culture of any nation or people of a country reflect the real creativities of that particular nation or the people of that country. Today Australia has become a country of people who own very different cultural heritages reflecting their creativities and dignity and living in harmony. Therefore Australia is a great country for all those people to tell or show about their remarkable creativities.

Today we all are living in the Digital Age and The Age of Convenience. Therefore the internet has become the most prominent place where most people are displaying their tales or creativities. That is a very important ability or a skill that all creators must possess today to create and present their beautiful thoughts for other people to enjoy.

Therefore it is more appropriate to review the “Place for every story, a story for every place” to ‘Internet for creations, creations for Internet.’ It is more meaningful since that is what is happening now with regard to attract more audiences to enjoy the different creations of all intelligent creators.

But unfortunately some social media websites have become artificial intelligent garbage dumping grounds where all people are posting different kind of posts freely. They do not help to create intelligent and peaceful human societies or protect the intelligent living behaviours of the people of the current human world.

Therefore it is an urgent requirement to create a Government social media website by the Australian Government which is monitoring it by the Australian Government itself restricting the posting of creations similar to the posts visible on those social media websites which are not suitable and also harmful for the people who are living following good cultural habits like people in Australia. It is a very important function of a Government should perform for the benefits of the all living being living in any country in this human world.

The Australian Government can accordingly set up an example creating an important social media website including a Blog titled Creativity and explaining what it is to convince the people all over the world about the national identity of the Australian more better than all other methods currently using for that purpose. The website could be name as creativities.au to facilitate all people of whole world to contribute by posting their intelligent creations. Then the current social media websites which are using different posts of different people for their business purposes even violating the international human rights regulations will be gradually disappear leaving human societies to live intelligently and peacefully.

It will help to prevent children, teenagers, youths and other people using social media websites wasting their unrecoverable times and motivating for criminal activities. It will also helpful for the eSafety Commissioner to promote her responsibilities more successfully and educate all people who are using the internet for different purposes to use it only for intelligent purposes.
