Curtis Brown Australia

Short submission (text box 500 words or less)

Curtis Brown Australia is a literary agency representing a significant number of Australian creators whose livelihoods depend on Australian book sales. The continued growth of offshore retailers in our market is threatening sales and therefore income for our clients, and we'd like to see support thrown behind local retailers who have always been passionate champions of Australian authored works. If Australians don't buy Australian authors, publishers won't publish them and we'll lose important cultural voices.
