I regularly participate in dance events across Melbourne and really enjoy the opportunities that come up throughout the months, also very grateful to cypher culture being a space that informs me what events exist (because otherwise it's very hard for me to access this info/know about it).

I really want there to be more opportunities for dance events, battles and ways that dance creatives can be part of more festivals occurring across Melbourne. The community is big and dynamic but I've found that they often get silo'd into events (often where the larger public don't know/have means to find out about it). I would also like more ways for dance events to be advertised across 'what's on Melbourne' and other platforms so more of the general public can know about these events
