The National Cultural Policy in Australia continues to weaken.

I would advocate for more funding for emerging and mid career artists across art forms.

More investment in putting the A into STEAM (science technology engineering arts and mathematics)

More investment in cross-disciplinary art forms

More investment into regional Australia

More investment for First Nations voices

More investment for artists from with different needs

More investment for creative events

More investment for climate art

As the creative producer and curator of the inaugural [REDACTED] we sought funding from outside the arts although this is an art event as the funding policy as it has been and may continue to be is not fit for purpose
