Hi my name is [REDACTED], i am a disabled painter and sketch artist. I

I think Australians with disabilities who live in regional and remote areas should have access to the same internships and work opportunities as capital city counterparts.

I think there should be a quota across all traditional media platforms for First Nations made material!

I think there should be stronger quotas on Australian music in media and streaming playlists and radio stations. Festivals should have at least 20% Australian artists, and all international artists should have to have an Australian support act.

I think Bookstores should have a display of local writers and have to host an support an event seasonally. Independent bookstores should have quotas to hire early career writers and independent bookshops across Australia have a loyalty program that sends out ARCs of indie books, merchandise and pre orders.

To be able to host and run a music festival in Australia you must meet accessibility and host an event or sideshow in a regional area.
